WE HAVE WRONGED NO ONE (2 Corinthians 7:2)

Life coach Douglas Woods says: "Each of us holds many values – some are superficial fitting just for the moment in which we find ourselves. Others stay with us through our life; these are our "core values." What are some core values?

Your friends and lifelong companions Abraham Lincoln said: "When I lay down the reins of this administration I want to have one friend left, and that friend is inside myself.

Your compass/right direction: Seasons, relationships, circumstances and goals change, but core values remain.

Is living this way easy? No. Doubters will think you're foolish because you walk by faith. People without family values won't understand your devotion to your family. The carnally minded won't understand your dedication to Christ.

And those whose core values differ from yours will try to convince you to follow them, or lower your standards.

Your anchor. Without core values you're adrift. Any storm can take you under. Core values are your anchor when the weather gets nasty.

Christian Psychologist Dr James Dobson says:

Don't suddenly realise the ladder you have been climbing is leaning against the wrong wall.
